MOURN FOR SERGIUS' DEATH TODAY

Royal Family Held Special Services In St. Petersburg—Other Plans Of The Assassins Made Public.

(SPECIAL BY SCRIPPS-M'RAE.)
Moscow, Feb. 18.—The assassin of Sergius, it is said, has confessed that he belongs to the workmen's social democracy. He added: "I accomplished the will of the executive." At St. Petersburg it is believed the assassination of Sergius will cause the czar to reconsider his proclamation of reforms for the workmen, though it is probable it will have the opposite effect and may result in a way to hasten by the act, which is taken to indicate the desperate state of mind of the revolutionary element. It has transpired that Sazonov, the assassin of Plevne, wrote a confession before his execution, giving in detail the aims of the terrorists, which included the assassination of Sergius. He said: "We don't expect to overthrow the existing system of ruling of assassinations. Our one object is to avenge cruel wrongs inflicted on our people."

Held Services.
Memorial services for Sergius were held at St. Isaac's cathedral, St. Petersburg, today. A large congregation was present, including many grand dukes and other notables. It is announced the funeral will be held several days hence within the Kremlin palace at Moscow. The czar and imperial family will be represented by Grand Duke Alexis. The council of the empire will hold an extraordinary sitting to consider the situation resulting from the assassination of Sergius.

A Paris Account.
Paris, Feb. 18.—According to reliable information, the Nihilists have selected the grand duke Vladimir as the next victim. Governor General Trepoff of St. Petersburg will follow, then will come M. Pouchkoff, procurator of the holy synod. The czar's turn does not come until he signs the constitution, since his signature is necessary. It is thought the Russian government will resort to a reaction in hope of saving the lives of prominent men.

Bombthrower a Young Man.
The bombthrower is a young man, probably 30 years old. He was dressed as a moujik, but obviously does not belong to the peasant class, and doubtless is a student.

The other assassin was arrested by a policeman, who overtook him as he was running from the scene of the assassination. The man carried a revolver, but made no attempt to use it. He expressed gratification that the Grand Duchess Elizabeth was not accompanying her husband.

As the point chosen for the assassination was within the precincts of the Kremlin that are little frequented and at the actual moment practically deserted, it is difficult to obtain a precise story of the killing.

From the best available sources, however, it is learned the grand duke entered his carriage at the main entrance of the Nicholas palace, intending to drive to the private bathhouse in Tverskaja street, which he occupied when governor general.

Grand Duchess Is Warned.
It was the first time for several weeks that he had driven unaccompanied by the grand duchess, who always has been popular with all classes. The grand duke was perfectly well aware of the risk he ran when she was not with him.

It is known that the grand duchess had received an anonymous warning advising her not to drive out with her husband, as he would certainly be assassinated in the streets. The grand duchess apparently was unmoved by the threats, and only the fact that the grand duke went to the bath kept her indoors, and so averted a tragedy even more horrible than the one that occurred.

At the moment of the explosion the grand duchess was at the Kremlin, superintending work for the wounded at the front, and was about to proceed to the residence of the governor general, expecting to meet her husband there. Her carriage was waiting outside the Kremlin.

Throws Bomb From Sledge.
The carriage, which was a closed, shabby one, not likely to attract attention, was driven up the wide roadway between the Chudoff monastery and the great bell tower in the direction of the Nikolsky gate, which opens on the grand square. Two ordinary cabs containing detectives followed at a little distance.

According to one story, half way across the open space between the bell tower and the Nikolsky gate the imperial carriage was overtaken and passed by an open sledge drawn by a single horse. It was driven at a rapid rate and passed under the gateway, which forms almost a tunnel, before the carriage containing the grand duke came up from the Nikolsky gate.

The Czar—That storm may blow over, but there's no telling when it might come back after me.

HOLD UP TWO ON THEIR WAY HOME

Prominent New York Man, and His Wife Are Robbed Near Their Residence.

(SPECIAL BY SCRIPPS-M'RAE.)
New York, Feb. 18.—Within two doors of their home on 138 street this morning, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Cornish were held up. Mrs. Cornish was robbed of a five thousand dollar diamond brooch. In trying to defend his wife, Cornish is reputed to be a millionaire, was shot and seriously wounded by the bandit who escaped.

FATHER GOPON IS IN ROME TODAY

Russian Priest Arrived in Lyons on Wednesday and Visited Paris.

(SPECIAL BY SCRIPPS-M'RAE.)
Marseilles, Feb. 18.—Father Gapon, the former leader of the St. Petersburg strikers, arrived here Wednesday from Lyons. He was accompanied by some Russian students. He had a lengthy conference with friends here, and left for Rome last night. The police watched his movements closely.

STATE NOTES

John Hoffman of Tomahawk, sent to Marinette for two months for larceny, attempted to dig through the jail wall with a hatchet. He lost his head in the darkness and then attempted to jump a hole through the wall with a stick of wood. He failed. He threatened to brain a fellow prisoner who attempted to give an alarm. John B. Johnson, aged 41, has been found dead to death on the Boscebel road near Fennimore. Marks in the snow show a desperate attempt to struggle on. He was subject to fainting spells.

County Poor Superintendent Rudolf, aged 56, was buried yesterday at Marquette.

Before a crowded and enthusiastic house, Gov. La Follette delivered his lecture on "The World's Greatest Tragedy" at Madison.

Clarence Todd, daughter of the Rev. W. M. Todd, narrowly escaped losing her eyesight while experimenting in chemistry at the Menominee high school with concentrated sulphuric acid. The acid exploded and splattered over her face.

The marriage of Mrs. Margaret L. Atkinson of Green Bay and W. S. King, assistant general manager of the Yazoo & Mississippi Valley railroad, took place in Chicago.

John Devine has begun a $5,000 damage suit against the S. Freeman Soda Manufacturing company at Racine for injuries to his foot, which was struck by an iron door while in the company's employ.

Scire B. Early and wife were arrested in Evansville, Ind., yesterday for alleged fraud through an employment bureau.

Pretty Custom Is Japanese.

RICE CULTURE IS BEING TAKEN UP

University Experimental Station Is Preparing to Give a Report Soon.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Madison, Wis., Feb. 18.—As a result of analyzing a number of commercial food stuffs sent in from different parts of the state, the Wisconsin Agricultural Experiment station finds that a number of mixed foods have been grossly adulterated with rice hulls. The station recently ascertained that a shipment of ground rice hulls had been brought into the state, and warned farmers and stock-raisers of the danger of adulteration. The finding of the rice hulls proved that the suspicion of adulteration was well-founded, for it is evident from analysis that these rice hulls are being used in different parts of the state. The rice hulls contain forty per cent of woody fibre and from fifteen to twenty per cent of silica or sand. The sharp barbs upon the edges of the hulls cause irritation in the intestinal organs of animals feeding upon this material. They are not only worthless as food, but are not infrequently fatal. As a protective measure the experiment station suggests that the guarantee provided by the Wisconsin feed stuff law of 1901 be demanded from the feed dealers in all concentrated commercial feeds. The experiment station also undertakes to analyze all samples of feeds which it is suspected have been adulterated by rice hulls or other worthless material.

BEGIN CRUSADE ON OIL TRUST

Kansas Governor Signs The Bill That Starts The Great Fight In That State.

STRATEGIC MOVE BY THE HOUSE

Pipe Lines In The State Are Made Common Carriers, Thus Providing For Transportation For The Product Of New Concerns.

(SPECIAL BY SCRIPPS-M'RAE.)
Topeka, Kan., Feb. 18.—The state of Kansas today officially entered on its crusade against the Standard Oil company, when Governor Hoch signed the bill appropriating $200,000 for the state refinery. The ink on the document scarcely was dry before the house unanimously passed the bill making pipe lines in the state common carriers. By this legislation the laws of the great corporation will be available in which to transport the product of the state refinery.

Further to aid in the war an anti-discrimination bill will be passed. The measure will prevent the Standard oil company from underselling the state refinery, in that the corporation will be compelled to make a uniform price for every town in the state. The passage practically is assured.

Governor Signs Message.
In sending the refinery law to the legislature after giving his signature Governor Hoch delivered a lengthy message touching on the situation.

"This is not an attempt to drive the Standard Oil company out of Kansas," he said in part, "to deprive it of legitimate profits or to do it any injustice of any kind—it is an attempt to compel it to treat the people of this state fairly and to give every man a square deal."

"If this refinery succeeds it will not attempt to monopolize the oil business of the state. It is not an attempt to establish a monopoly, but an attempt to compel a monopoly already existing to be decent. It will not discourage, but encourage private investment in this line of industry."

Takes Rap at Socialism.
"It is an attempt to make competition, and not to destroy competition, as socialism does; and when its purpose is achieved, when private capital can come to Kansas and find investment in oil refineries, with a fair chance of success, when normal conditions have been restored; when individual competition shall again be possible; when these good conditions have been made permanent, then the state not only will be willing, but glad, to retire from the refining of oil, and leave that business as well as the other lines of industry in the hands of private competitors, where it legitimately belongs."

"All this now is impossible on account of the greatest socialistic corporation now doing business on earth—the Standard Oil company. No greater question confronts the American people than the control of these great aggregations of capital, all of them socialistic in their character, and all of them antagonistic to the essential element of all national progress—the competitive system."

Stirs Interest of Nation.
Interest is manifested throughout the United States concerning the action of Kansas toward the Standard oil company. Inquiries from seventeen states have come to the secretary of the senate and chief clerk of the house for copies of the state refinery and other bills relating to oil business. A number of these inquiries came by telegraph from Texas, Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia.

Secretary Parker of the Oil Producers' association declared the action of the Kansas legislature would result in bringing to Kansas several million dollars to be invested in independent oil refineries. Pennsylvania capitalists have a representative on the way here to arrange for establishing an independent refinery to cost $600,000.

The senate committee on judiciary introduced a resolution providing for a vote of the people in 1906 on the question of calling a constitutional convention. The new constitution would be expected to be very strongly against trusts.

JUDGE EMIL BAENSCH, NEW PRESIDENT WISCONSIN PRESS CLUB

A LONG STORY IS BRIEFLY RELATED

BASE BALL AS IT WAS PLAYED BY THE OLD MUTUALS.

THE DEFEATS AND VICTORIES

Another Interesting Bit of History by Frank L. Smith—Beat Milwaukee.

(By Frank L. Smith.)

During the winter of '69 and '70 a professional club was organized in Chicago for the express purpose of defeating Cincinnati, whose Red Stockings had been cleaning up everything before them, and no expense was spared in securing players from the east. During this same winter the chest measure of the Mutuals had increased several inches and the proposal of the Chicago club to play a game here on May 27th was readily accepted. They came, saw and had a baseball feast. There seemed to be a rivalry in the nine as to which member could hit the ball the longest distance and with that feuds were kindled. They swatted that ball! If a member had been in use at that time I am quite sure that one at least of my person would have recorded a distance of twenty miles traveled in the field (not on the bases) during that afternoon.

But they did not all fly out of bounds, and the applause from the spectators, together with the flattering notice in the Gazette for the home runs stopped in their incipency were probably as pleasant to me at that time as a monthly pay check of one of these eight thousand dollars a year players would be at the present writing.

Home runs—Chicago, 9; Fly Catches—Chicago, 5; Mutuals, 10.

We should probably never have recovered from the shock of this defeat but for the fact that in a game at Milwaukee the next day the Cream City made a better showing against the Chicagoans, who were tired, sore and in a crippled condition generally, two of the players being almost totally disabled.

The Roasting. The following is quoted from the Sentinel's account of the game: "We don't know how Janesville will record this record made by the Chicago club. With their usual presumption they will no doubt still claim the championship of the state, and will sling ink fast and furious to establish their pretensions. The other portions of the state will at once see the utter nonsense of calling that club champion that has been hard at practice for the last two months and after all could only make five runs against the White Stockings."

Served as Ginger. What more was needed for a stimulant? In a few days we had ceased dodging each other on the streets and were soon on speaking terms, explaining how it all happened and so forth. June 3d we played at Madison with the Mendotas of the university (the other clubs in the city having gone out of business), and they trimmed us to the tune of 41 to 17, but in the return game in this city June 17th, we turned the tables on them, winning by 41 to 40—narrow escape, indeed—and the following score shows how it was done:

The Gazette's Account.

The Gazette's account of the finish of the game is quoted: "Conant waited until he got a ball to suit him and then he hit it, away it went into left field and the immortal 'Pet' came home, winning the game amidst the greatest excitement ever seen on a ball field. Old men and boys threw their hats in the air and shouted until they were hoarse."

More Games.

July 4th the Amateurs of Chicago, second only to the professionals in that city, defeated us by a score of 38 to 8, but we got even on the Potter Farmers of the same city July 20th defeating them 53 to 14, the only real feature of the game being a home run by the writer. Probably on the strength of this victory (and the home run) a meeting of the club was held on the following evening at which C. G. Titcomb, O. E. Palmer, Wm. Garner, C. L. Valentine, Geo. Williams, Chas. E. Mosley, Dr. Burbank, Frank Gray, Wm. Casar and L. F. Nichols were elected directors. J. B. Doe, Jas. Bintliff, R. L. Colvin, C. Veeder, S. St. John, L. Dearborn, O. F. Stafford, A. O. Wilson were elected honorary members, which looked as though our executive talent was becoming slightly top-heavy. The next thing I know we started on a northern trip July 25th, with the following nine: Heller, 1b; Lenahan, c; Bicknell, ss; F. Smith, cf; Hulse, p; B. Smith, 3b; Conant, lf; Marston, 2b; Sutherland, rf.

On the 25th we defeated the Beaver Dam club 35 to 29 and on the 30th the Fond du Lac club 53 to 14 in seven innings. Hitchcock, formerly of the Mutuals, pitching for Fond du Lac Aug 1st we had a close call at Oshkosh finally winning out by 44 to 35, after changing pitchers several times. O. Sutherland made a business engagement in Oshkosh and was the star player of that club during the balance of the season.

The Sentinel's Report.

The Milwaukee Sentinel had this to publish of the trip: "There have been several games of baseball lately at different points along the line of the Northwestern railroad—all of which have been won by the Champlain Bluffers of Janesville. They are able to play ball just well enough to be beaten by respectable strong clubs and on their own grounds, at the rate of five to one. Their game of blowing can discount their game of baseball. Give them pen and paper and they will demonstrate without danger of contradiction that if they have not won the championship of the state at baseball by playing a game they are partly entitled to it by reason of the remarkable dexterity with which they sling ink in their endeavor to prove themselves such. They can also incontestably show that as blowers they are a decided success. How fortunate for the world that the telegraph and the press are sufficiently capable of heralding the vast achievements of the bluffers."

How cruel of the Sentinel's scribe to write of us in that manner, more especially as we had repeatedly challenged the Cream City to a series of games, the first of which, according to the rules, they were in duty bound to play on our grounds.

Play in Milwaukee.

In a foolish moment however, we agreed to play first in Milwaukee, and on the day set for the game, Aug. 10th, we were unable to get even a fair nine together, but rather than disappoint them we made the trip, picking up several players on the way. We were defeated before play started and it was more of a farce than ball game, our third baseman in fielding a ball to first throwing so high that the ball went over the fence enclosing the grounds.

First Count.

The final count was 64 to 20 in their favor, but fortunately I have no score of the game at hand. The return game was to be played here Aug. 31st and extra provisions were made to guard against a scarcity of players for this occasion, so much so that we had a surplus on hand, and the night before the game I was asked by some of the directors to abdicate in favor of players to whom we had to offer liberal inducements when short handed, as they might be offended if dropped from the list—and of course "I didn't care."

A Spectator Only.

So the next day found me at the game a prospective spectator, but having arranged the game by correspondence, was called from my buggy to settle a dispute before the contest started. About that time Mr. Bird, upon whose pitching great dependence was placed for the hoped for victory, broke his thumb while catching a torn covered ball out in the field. Nice place for a pitcher under those circumstances; nice ball to bat to any one. Then it was the directors to me again and after a few minutes of conflicting emotions I took to the field, "Sans" uniform, not to please them, but because I, above all others on the grounds, was anxious for victory, which I had the satisfaction of being called upon to save in the pitcher's box at the end of the 7th inning. Am partially justified in referring to this personal matter by being worked up over a recollection of the affair.

Here is a summary of the rest of the game:

THE VALUE OF CHARCOAL.

How People Know How Useful it is in Preserving Health and Beauty.

Nearly everybody knows that charcoal is the safest and most efficient disinfectant and purifier in nature, but few realize its value when taken into the human system for the same cleansing purpose.

Charcoal is a remedy that the more you take of it the better; it is not a drug at all, but simply absorbs the gasses and impurities always present in the stomach and intestines and carries them out of the system. Charcoal sweetens the breath after eating smoking, drinking or after eating onions and other odorous vegetables.

Charcoal effectually clears and improves the complexion, it whitens the teeth and further acts as a natural and eminently safe cathartic.

It absorbs the injurious gasses which collect in the stomach and bowels; it disinfects the mouth and throat from the poison of cararrh.

All druggists sell charcoal in one form or another, but probably the best charcoal and the most for the money is in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges; they are composed of the finest powdered Willow charcoal, and other harmless antiseptics in tablet form or rather in the form of large, pleasant tasting lozenges, the charcoal being mixed with honey.

The daily use of these lozenges will soon tell in a much improved condition of the general health, better complexion, sweeter breath and purer blood, and the beauty of it is, that no possible harm can result from the continued use of them, but one the contrary, great benefit.

A Buffalo physician in speaking of the benefits of charcoal, says: "I advise Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges to all patients suffering from gas in stomach and bowels, and to clear the complexion and purify the breath, mouth and throat; I also believe the liver is greatly benefited by the daily use of them; they cost but twenty-five cents a box at drug stores, and although in some sense a patent preparation, yet I believe I get more and better charcoal in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges than in any of the ordinary charcoal tablets."

More Victories.

In the meantime the Beaver Dam club had been here and were defeated 53 to 31. The most exciting feature of this game was the danger the umpire, Dr. St. John, was in of being thrashed by the Beaver Dam second baseman.

On Sept. 5th the Fountain City of Fond du Lac came and played a game of which the following is the score:

Some Players.

Pullen and Hitchcock of the Fountain City formerly played with the Mutuals and Winters, the Mutual pitcher, was a former Titan.

This game brought us more trouble as the Fond du Lac club was dissatisfied with the result and after their home return wanted to play us for from one hundred to five hundred dollars a side, for which they were ridiculed by their home paper.

They finally cooled off and came here for the revenge Sept. 19th, being defeated by a score of 41 to 31. They had the same battery as before but showed an improvement in their respects. Bird pitched for the Mutuals, the nine otherwise being the same as in the previous game.

The Return Game.

The Mutuals played the return game at Fond du Lac Sept. 27th. Winters who had pitched for the Mutuals against Fond du Lac when they made out eight runs had convinced them that he could do the same thing to us so they gave him the opportunity, with Bray of Milwaukee as catcher. We made eighty runs while they were gathering in eleven. Del. Bump, one of our players, making as many runs as their entire nine, so it will be seen that Fond du Lac was certainly easy for us.

O. Sutherland "of the Everet club of Oshkosh" umpired the game.

Toten Talk.

There was a Third ward lady who recently entertained a number of friends at dinner. She desired to make a turkey feast and so visited all the local shops to secure the coveted fowls. Turkeys were scarce and to make sure of a goodly supply she ordered them all over the city and even went so far as to telephone into the country to make sure of a sufficient number. The day for the dinner arrived and so did the turkeys. Every dealer filled his order and so did the rural resident. From the latest accounts the lady had nearly double the number of turkeys she had guests.

Two Third ward ladies received a pleasant surprise on St. Valentine's day in the shape of a dainty package done up with ribbons and other marks of care and careful attention. The wonderment at the present increased as roll after roll of tissue paper was unfolded by the wondering maidens and finally, in the center of the package was disclosed—a package of gum. Just a little package of gum. No cards, no greetings and while the girls swore each other to secrecy the story leaked out as stories will.

Recently during the cold weather a well known resident discovered his cistern was frozen up. Telling his wife he would send the plumbers over he left home for business stopping on the way to notify the man with the steam pipe to visit his house. It was nearly noon when his wife called up and told the busy man that the plumbers had been working on the lid of the cistern for hours and could not budge it. When asked what lid, she replied: "Why, the one in the backyard." It is not quite right to give away family secrets but something was said that was not complimentary and the lady of the house was informed that the supposed lid of the cistern was the lid of the cess pool and that the plumbers had worked three hours at thirty cents an hour trying to do something they had no business to do when the cistern was in the cellar.

It was also during the cold weather when another pitiful tale of domestic unhappiness came about. A gentleman woke one morning to find the water frozen. Two days of carrying water to his home from neighbors was not pleasant but the plumbers could not find the frozen spot. Then came the worst of all. The sewer froze and now the suffering gentleman writes as he tells his troubles: "They are digging up the whole front lawn to find the place and when they find it the water is still frozen."

News for the Railroad Men.

St. Paul Road.

Day ticket agent, M. P. Justinger, was in Chicago today.

Conductor Charles Howard is laying off from the Mineral Point passenger run. Conductor Harry Veeder is relieving him.

The machinists and other employees of the shops have been forced to work over-time nearly every day for the past week and a half. The large amount of repair work that is necessitated by the cold and snow is responsible. A shortage of help is noticeable in all departments at the present time.

Northwestern Road.
Engineer L. E. Pruner and fireman Schuman went out on the north end way freight this morning.

Engineer A. L. Wilcox is on the switch-engine days.

Engineer J. W. Coen is dispatching engines days.

L. M. Gosselin went to Fond du Lac this morning.

The lines west of Madison and toward Mineral Point and Elroy are still partially blocked by snow, and all traffic is greatly delayed.

Bert Rutter is relieving day ticket agent Tanberg for a few days and Robert Lee will act as night agent in place of Bert Rutter.

Railway Melange.

The railway committee of the house of commons of Canada has granted an extension of seven years to complete the proposed bridge of the Canada Southern railway over the Detroit river.

An electric railway up Mount Blanc is projected. It is said that it will be completed in about six months.

The Milwaukee and State Line railroad has been incorporated at Madison and previously the same concern was incorporated in Illinois as the Illinois and State Line railroad.

George L. French, general agent of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul road, is in New Orleans looking over the grain shipping situation with the view of determining whether or not his road will participate in the grain traffic to the gulf ports.

Through passenger trains between Salt Lake City, Utah, and San Pedro, Cal., over a new line will begin to be operated April 1, according to the announcement made recently by E. W. Gillette, general freight and passenger agent of the San Pedro, Los Angeles and Salt Lake City railroad.

At a special meeting of the Western Passenger association lines an effort was made to procure an agreement to increase the summer tourist rates from all territory into the northern resorts of Michigan and Wisconsin. The effort was opposed by the Alton and other lines, which held out for the old rates of one fare plus $5 for the round trip. Eighty per cent of the double locals was the rate which the other lines desired.

Senator Rogers has introduced in the state legislature a number of bills in the interest of the Milwaukee Southern railway, providing that the city may authorize that company to tunnel under any park property and also that it may condemn land for the railway purposes. The Milwaukee Southern proposed to tunnel under part of Mitchell park. A representative of the road in Madison states that the bill introduced Monday night, affecting Eighth ward park was not put in at the request of the Milwaukee Southern and that it looks as if some other road was interested in that piece of public property.

Certificate Reextending Charter, TREASURY DEPARTMENT, Office of Comptroller of the Currency.

Washington, D. C., January 13, 1905.

WHEREAS, by satisfactory evidence presented to the undersigned, it has been made to appear that "The Rock County National Bank of Janesville," located in the city of Janesville in the county of Rock and the state of Wisconsin, has complied with all the provisions of the Act of Congress to enable National Bank for Associations to extend their corporate existence, and for other purposes, approved July 13, 1882, as amended by the Act, approved April 12, 1902;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Thomas P. OLD FOGY TAKES MATTERS IN HAND

HAS HIS USUAL LIST OF ABUSES OF THE ORDINANCES.

WANTS THE LAWS ENFORCED

Sees No Reason for Dilatory Tactics When Everything is Ready for the Business.

To three Editor: The spring elections are coming on very shortly and there are six new aldermen to be elected. One each in the first, third, fourth and fifth and two in the second. Already there is considerable talk as to candidates and it is perhaps not out of place at this time to issue a word of warning to the voters as to selections. Be careful who you select. Be careful whose nomination papers you sign for it is a practical pledge of your vote at the election under the new law. Elec. men who are in touch with city affairs. Do not be carried away by mere partisanship but choose carefully who you will vote for and then go in and work. The coming aldermen should be men of property with the interests of the city at heart. They should not be so sent a faction, nor should they be so stubborn as not to be able to be convinced they are wrong on certain propositions that are vital to their constituents. As there are two men to be elected in the Second ward particular attention should be paid to this baitfish. No man should be placed in nomination or elected who has an axe to grind and intends to use his position as alderman to protect or promote his business interests. This is not good policy, it is promoting graft and it was because of graft or supposed graft that the Municipal League was called into existence two years ago and the council swept clean of all such alleged charges.

The Streets. So much snow has fallen during the past few weeks and so frozen have become the streets and gutters about the city that when the spring freshets do come they would in all probability do much damage. As a bit of good generalship Street Commissioner Watson has had several gangs of men at work clearing the gutters of ice so as to make it possible for the water to flow away when the thaw comes. As the city has not men enough to complete this work in parts of the city it might be a good thing for residents who have property on side hills to keep a watch of their own property and see that the water has easy access to the level and does not run down over walks into neighbors' cellars and otherwise do damage. It is probable that if a general thaw comes all at once that it did come up again even higher than it did last spring as there is much more snow and ice this year than then. However, there is no apparent danger just now even though the annual Feb. thaw has come as winter is not yet over and if the groundhog is to be relied upon and we shall probably have more zero weather and cold days and perhaps snow.

The Boxes Needed. The offer of the Dubuque firm to place waste boxes about the city where waste paper can be placed rather than thrown into the streets comes at an appropos time. During the winter people throw waste paper and other materials into the streets and the snow covers them up. When the thaw comes there they lie in all their mussy, papers soggy and pulpy. With waste boxes and the people educated to use them this would be done away with. It would be easy to have the boxes emptied every so often, papers will not be frightened and melting snows will not enclose mysteries hidden until disclosed by spring zephyrs. The boxes if properly cared for will be valuable adjunct to the city street department. Speaking to this connection a word of caution to persons who throw ashes upon the street might be said at this point. There is a city ordinance regarding this matter and last winter Acting Chief Brown stopped it but this winter he is not in authority and the abuse continues in all parts of the city. Something should be done to stop it and the something immediately. Or course it is an easy way to dispose of a winter's supply of ashes but it is not agreeable to your neighbors.

It Was All Wind. This talk of reorganizing the police department has thus far developed a lot of talk, much bluster, some work and nothing done. The fire and police commission did their work and presented the new city marshal with the names of candidates for prospective policemen. The council did its share and appointed a committee to investigate the police department and make recommendations. Their report was accepted. What is the result? Nothing done. The same number of police as formerly. The same old clubs, the same old uniforms, the same old service. Not one whit improved. John Brown is seen upon the streets as usual, night and day. One change however for the better is to be found and due credit should be given. There is always some one in the station during the day to answer "telephone" calls. Whether the cold weather has had something to do with this or not can not be ascertained until the warm spring days come and riding becomes good. However, that is an improvement over an empty office.

FAMILY OF ELEVEN HAD BUT ONE BED

And Traveling Agent Took Bedding Away When Weekly Payment Could Not Be Met.

City Missionary Mary Kimball reports the discovery of an unusual case of suffering in a Washington street home. A widow and ten children had been living with but one bed in the house, the bedding being secured by the payment of one dollar down and a dollar a week to a traveling agent. This week the payment could not be met and the agent promptly carried away the bedding. It seems incredible that such cases of destitution can exist in the heart of a civilized community.

MY

The Successful Man

Is the man who works with both hands and head. The hands cannot do it alone; the larger part must be done with the head. No matter what calling you have selected, you cannot hope to succeed in this age of keen competition without a working knowledge of business principles. The wise builder lays his foundation broad and deep no matter whether the structure is to be a cottage or cathedral. The man or woman who tries to "jump into business" makes a big mistake and sooner or later his life structure will tumble and probably bury him in the ruins.

FOOTLIGHT FLASHES

For five nights commencing Monday, February 20 and continuing through Tuesday, Wednesday, Friday and Saturday the Frank E. Long Stock company will be the attraction at Myers Grand Opera house. The Long Company this season is an exceptionally strong one and the repertoire one of the best carried by a popular priced organization. With the company a number of high class vaudeville headliners are carried, who introduce their specialties between the acts. The vaudeville people alone, were they so disposed, could give a whole evening's entertainment by themselves. An entire change of program each evening. The opening bill will be the four-act drama, "Father and Daughter," with Miss Sullivan in the leading role. One lady free with each paid reserved seat ticket.

"The Royal Chef," which comes to the Myers Grand next Thursday is quite a departure from the line of musical comedies seen here in the past few seasons. It is evident that the public has wearied of the jumble of interpolated songs, almanac jokes, together with the addition of vaudeville features, which bore the title of musical comedies, and are beginning to show a disposition for the old, dyed-in-the-wool comic operas. "The Royal Chef" is the first of the season's musical offerings, which shows, by its popularity, evidenced in other cities, that comic opera was what they want. The stately show-girl, the stannous and Junoesque creature, who figured heretofore in the sextettes and octettes, but who had been denied the voice of song, is conspicuous by her absence, and in her place is found the little girl who can dance, and shows by every movement that she is alive and not an automaton which bends and bows only by direction of the stage manager.

...Forty Years Ago...

Janesville Daily Gazette, Saturday, February 18, 1865.—Good Enough.—We now learn from Captain Putnam that the prospects are that all the towns in the county will fill their quotas and obviate the necessity of the draft.

Rowdiness.—Some rowdy or rowdies assaulted the meat shop of Mr. Reum on the bridge last night smashing in the windows and throwing the sleigh of the proprietor in the river. No clue has been obtained to the perpetrators of the outrage.

Concert on Contemplation.—We understand that the singing class of Mr. Bennett intends giving a concert about the second week in March, assisted by the best musical talent in the city. This class numbering about sixty members has made great progress under its able teacher, and our citizens have just reason to expect a concert of musical merit. Should the proposed entertainment come off, we suppose it will be most generously patronized.

Pitiable Sight.—A temperance lecture of the most eloquent description was delivered in front of Webb & Co's store this afternoon. A young woman with a small child in her arms fell suddenly forward into a puddle of water, and being helped onto her feet it was found she was drunk. The bystanders letting go their hold she fell backwards, sitting directly into a puddle of water again. She was helped to the sidewalk where she and her child sat shivering in their wet garments, until the officers took her away to more comfortable quarters, she being too intoxicated to tell where she belonged. Comment on such an exhibition in the streets of any city in broad daylight is unnecessary.

Charleston.—The Madison Journal prints the following extracts from a letter written by a former resident of that place:

"I had a long conversation yesterday with a federal spy who has just returned from Charleston. He says that the cradle of the rebellion will be in our possession there in a few weeks that the authorities there have no idea of being able to hold the place, and are sending away every thing possible, and are constructing a causeway over which to retreat when they evacuate the city. He predicts a battle at Branchville, but says that after that they will attempt no resistance, and cannot if they would, as their communications will be cut off and at Branchville he thinks the resistance will not be very stubborn. No one here seems to doubt that Charleston will be in our possession within a month. This is cheering and strengthens my opinion that the end is near. Six months more and Jeff Davis will date his letters in Mexico or Europe."

MUSICAL FARCE AT THE MYERS THEATRE

Mason and Mason in "Fritz and Snitz" Held the Boards Last Evening—Audience Not Large.

"Fritz and Snitz," a musical farce built around a preposterous plot and containing considerable alleged German-Russian dialect, held the boards at the Myers theatre last evening. Mason and Mason, the inevitable "twin" Dutchmen, sang some song parodies which connected and pleased many with their absurdities, spoken and acted. Frank Hayes, who appeared as "Hopper," the servant, did some very good eccentric dancing. A comedy chorus executed a number of acceptable dancing and singing specialties. The audience was not a large one.

FLOOR TOO STICKY FOR THE VISITORS

Watertown H. S. Basketball Team Defeated 56 to 15 Last Night—

Y. M. C. A. Second Trimmed.

Watertown High school met overwhelming defeat at the hands of Janesville in the basketball contest at the local gymnasium last evening. The first half ended with the score: Janesville, 7; Watertown, 8; and the final score was 56 to 15. The visitors complained that they were used to a slippery floor and that the "sticky" one here prevented them from doing their best. Carl played the best game for the locals and Kielblock for Watertown. Though uneven, the contest was interesting and one was witnessed by about 100 spectators. The teams lined up as follows:

Janesville.....f.....Green
Carle.....f.....Ulrich
Morse.....f.....Kielblock
Caldow.....c.....Richards
Sennett.....g.....Weidmeyer
Galbraith.....g.....Schluter and Baumann

By the score of 14 to 12 the second five from the high school defeated the Y. M. C. A. seconds. The players lined up as follows:

"In Blindmen's land those who are blessed with one eye are Kings;" and so in Sleepy town a small advertising appropriation might make your store a leader—but in most cities you must "think in big figures" to be in the race at all.

OUR SATURDAY NIGHT

At a little station south of Montgomery is a cottage near the track, and a well-worn path extends along the railroad for some little distance. As the train pulls out a man with hands clasped before him is noticed pacing up and down the path intently watching the moving train. The brakeman explains that twenty-five years ago this man was the support of a widowed mother whose sudden death played havoc with his brain. The last time he saw her the casket containing her remains was carried away on a train, and he has been pacing up and down the beaten path ever since, expecting and anxiously waiting her return—one of the many unwritten tragedies of life which attract no attention and yet are intensely read.

A little farther down the line the little huts occupied by negroes appear in clusters of half a dozen or more, and as the train speeds by every doorway is occupied by women and children waving a salute, and enjoying the only recreation which ever comes into their monotonous lives.

The hovels they occupy are built of logs or cheap lumber and are about thirty feet long with two doors in the side and no windows. Many of them are occupied by two families, and the chimney running to the ground at each end furnishes the fireplace.

These dwellings are alike throughout the south, and are evidently patterned after the old-time slave quarters in plantation days. They house the negro population outside the cities, and judging from the swarms of children which are always in evidence, this population is increasing at rapid pace. The little patch of cotton furnishes the food supply and the wardrobe is certainly not expensive.

The country negro is usually pure-blooded African and judging from appearances is not very far removed from his brother on his native heath. He is destitute of energy, thrift or ambition, and seems contented with his surroundings. He may some day become an American citizen in fact as well as in name, but that day will be generations hence. The tragedy of a race hangs in the balance, and the final outcome is difficult to forecast.

A gentleman from Chicago sat in the smoking department of a Pullman the other day discussing conditions as they exist in the south to-day. He had made his money, retired from business, and was touring the country with his wife in search of pleasure. The grind of business for forty years has made him something of a pessimist, and he claimed that the American people were the most selfish, most grasping, and most barbarous nation in the world.

Of course, his proposition was contested, but he was insistent and loaded with argument. He said, among other things:

"I would like to have you tell me why it is that our nation is in sympathy with Japan in the conflict now going on with Russia. When you look into the beady eyes and yellow faces of these little people, you realize that they are crafty and treacherous, and you know that you can't trust them, and if you do, there is no question as to result.

"Russia is a white race and a white man's race. The nation belongs to the group of nations to which we belong. We marry and inter-marry and mingle as nations which have many things in common," and then he said, with a good deal of emphasis:

"Let the Japs alone. If they win, they will demand more of us than we are prepared to give. They belong to the yellow race and always will. Don't trust a nation that you are not willing to marry into." Then, pointing out of the window to a group of negroes at a little station, he continued:

"That's the trouble with this country and with the south today. We have married and inter-married, or committed crimes which are worse, until the race which was never intended to assimilate is not only with us $8,000,000 strong, but has become a part of us, and we can't get away from it."

There was more in the argument than appears at first glance, and but little observation is necessary to convince the most skeptical that the race problem is a long way from settlement.

The south is honey-combed with a mixed population, and the mixture is largely white and colored, yet the least taint of colored blood draws the line as distinctly as it is possible to draw it. Every train has a car for colored people and a white man considers himself disgraced if he enters it. The public drinking fountains in the cities are barrels of ice water with a spigot on either side. One side is labelled "Free water for the whites;" the other bears the same inscription for the colored, and so the line of demarcation is defined in every department.

Negro crews man the trains with the exception of the conductor. Black men crowd the wharves and perform the menial work in all lines of business. They swarm around the hotels like bees, and are always waiting for a fee. In other words, they are the working force of the south, but no more a part of it than they were forty years ago.

These are cold facts, but they are facts and not theories. The country where these conditions exist, outside of certain localities, has all the appearance of an uncivilized country, and if it looked any worse before the war than it does today it must have been degenerate in the extreme. The forests are being destroyed and the sandy soil offers but little encouragement.

Much has been said about the tide of immigration from the north, which will eventually set in and redeem the south, but aside from cities like Birmingham and a few favored localities, this progressive tide is largely a dream. The northern farmer is not a truck gardener. A few acres of beets gives him the backache and demoralizes his constitution. He might raise oranges in the south if nature would give him a chance, but one crop of cotton or a turpentine grove would land him in the asylum in a twelvemonth.

If the south is ever redeemed and the land subdued, it will be done by southern men, with possibly a sprinkling of northern assistance, and when the tragedy of the race problem is settled, if it ever is, it will be settled by southern people.

There is a good deal of false sentiment in the north concerning the south, but this vanishes like thin air when conditions are studied at close range. Both races in the south are entitled to sympathy. They are the victims of an inheritance for which they are not responsible and time alone, with wise judgment and thoughtful consideration, will solve the race problem.

The people of the south are cordial and hospitable, but no more so than the people of the west. They are very much like other people, but badly handicapped through circumstances beyond their control.

"The woman who threw eggs at a minstrel show must have been possessed of an unlimited fortune," said the Chicago Chronicle recently, but the woman who rubs butter on her children's hair to make it black is to the former like a railroad magnate is to a country store keeper.

President Roosevelt will not wait for the senate to act on the house resolution, ordering an investigation of oil situation in Kansas, he orders one himself.

If Emperor William and King Victor Emanuel succeed in settling the trouble between Russia and Japan, watch Hearst claim the credit.

A dearth of candidates for city offices! Why, that's not so very queer, the weather has been cold enough to kill any kind of bee.

American politics are on the reform wave. Philadelphia has really begun to feel the effect of the reform crusade.

Keep cool, that cold wave has a return pass and may come back over the same line he traveled over at first.

The Standard oil trust has begun to take a tumble to itself. Perhaps Chicago University will suffer next.

Mr. Hyde's hundred thousand dollar dinner may have cost him more than that before he gets through.

An Illinois Judge says Rock river is navigable. He was talking about the way it is in the summer time.

Tom Lawson has begun to have an idea that he is the new saviour of the American public.

We can now understand why Hoch did not marry offener. He was in jail part of the time.

Before they get through it will be proved Chicago is not the worst city in the country after all.

So Janesville has no team in the Wisconsin State League after all.

Russia may not be such a back number as one would be lead to believe.

Washington's birthday is the next holiday upon which all but bankers work.

There are some signs that "gas" addicts has reached the bottom of his barrel.

City politicians are now leaving themselves in the hands of their friends.

A few more men like Hoch and the spinsters wouldn't outnumber the bachelors.

Senator Platt does not seem worried over Mr. Post's claims of exposure.

The country is saved. The legislature has adjourned until Monday.

So Hoch's wife had arsenic in her stomach?

PRESS COMMENT:

Milwaukee Sentinel: Gen. Finston

says, dejectedly: "There's nothing new in anything." Finston should quit reading the magazines.

St. Louis Globe-Democrat: It is easy to believe the scientific statement that the warmest thing outdoors lately was the ice.

Chicago Chronicle: One reason why married life is so dull is because so many dull people get married.

Superior Telegram: The press dispatches appear to indicate that the strikers at Moscow have been cowed. According to the bulletins bulletins were used.

Evening Wisconsin: The Nebraska legislature's bill scouring union hours for monkeys will be received with a chatter of enthusiasm in the tree-tops of Central Africa.

Chicago Record-Herald: It is reported from the East that George F. Baer is to become the president of two or three more railroads. It's a lucky thing that spring is coming.

Exchange: Carnegie is to receive $1.50 a day for going to Cleveland as a witness. The possibility of his being able to die poor is becoming more and more remote.

Edgerton Eagle: With the Janesville Gazette endorsing an utterance from the Milwaukee Free Press with apologies it looks as though the leaven of righteousness were still at work.

Harvard Independent: Belvidere will compete with Rockford and have a Chautauqua of her own next summer, 1,000 season tickets having been disposed of and the necessary $1,500 raised.

Albany Vindicator: Lake Geneva streets are in darkness since Jan. 28, when the street lighting contract expired. The Herald says it cannot see much difference, as the lights furnished were but a shade above moonlight at best.

Elkhorn Independent: Did you ever go to a "ten, twenty, thirty" show, as they are called by the gallery, when the punny man did not get off something excruciating about "Oshkosh" or "Kalamazoo"? We never did, and for that reason contend that Oshkosh has all the free advertising it is entitled to, without pestering a busy legislature with its foolishness.

Monroe Sentinel: Miss Laura Perkins of Beloit, Wis., has sent a cold chill down the spine of many a fellow taxpayer in that city. While many are asking rebates for one cause or another, she has written the city clerk stating that she observes that the assessor failed to tax her on a few hundred dollars she has in the savings bank and that if an error is made she desires to pay her full share of taxes.

Menasha Record: There is said to be a probability that L. D. Harvey will be a candidate for state superintendent this spring. When we remember what an efficient official Mr. Harvey made and how his efficiency was thrown to the wind in consideration of $2,000 paid to the La Follette campaign fund by the book trust, we naturally find a friendly feeling for him.

Evanston Review: Over at Delavan they have a creamery which has commenced the work of making milk powder, or milk flour. It is claimed that this flour contains all the solids of the milk and is far better for use than the original. Anyhow, for the present we'll try and worry along with the genuine fluid.

Sheboygan Journal: Wisconsin now has a variety of boards that do little else than draw fat salaries. It has a board of barber inspectors at a state board of control. The latter visited Sheboygan a few weeks ago to inspect the county insane asylum. One or two members stopped over for a few hours, loitered around without even visiting the asylum, and went away again. It would be the same with a state railroad commission. It would mean only that much more of the people's money for politicians' salaries. Multiplicity of officials does not mean better government. It never did and never will.

La Crosse Leader-Press: The Sullivan incident in the house of representatives has shown W. R. Hearst to be quite as yellow as his papers. He told just enough of the incident of Congressman Sullivan's fight with a drunken tramp in defense of his father to cast suspicion upon the whole incident, it would have been shown that it was Sullivan's credit. The cheers which greeted the Boston congressman when he declared that he would do the same thing again if his father were attacked must have given Hearst an idea of what the country thought of Sullivan if it did not make him realize his own infinite littleness.

Clinton Herald: The County Option bill to be considered by the present legislature of the state is a stride in the right direction, and is a fair proposition to all who believe in popular government. The man on the farm who pays a large part of the expense of keeping the poor houses, asylums and penal institutions has a right to say whether the saloon, the greatest producer of inmates for these institutions, shall exist or not, and if the village and city values the patronage of the farmer, it should give him an opportunity to say whether the place in which he must market his produce and buy his goods shall contain a trap for his boy, or, for himself, in an unguarded moment. Enforcement of law would be easier under county option, and now is an opportunity for those who say "I would be opposed to the saloon if the law could be enforced," to stand up in meeting.

La Crosse Chronicle: That squawking publication, Collier's, of New York, a paper that allowed reckless, reckless, ambitious men to fill its columns with personal abuse of three of the ablest, cleverest and most useful public men Wisconsin ever possessed, Senators Spooner and Quarles and the late Postmaster General

Henry C. Payne, uttering the basest of falsehoods in speaking of them, continues with its contemptible work. In a recent issue it gave a full page picture showing a row of vultures labeled various trusts roosting on the senate wing of the national capitol. Immediately under them are these words: "Let us pray." Under that is this: "U. S. Senate." The S made to appear like a dollar mark. A placard hung to a column says: "Seats for sale." It is a coarse and infamous attempt to attach odium to the highest legislative body in the world, in which there may be a small number, less than a half dozen surely, of men whose records and standings are such that possibly they should not be there. Aside from these very few exceptions there cannot be found in this or any other country an abler, honest, cleaner, manlier body of representative men than the United States senate contains today.

MILTON SHOULD BE THE WINNER

Dope Sheet Says Visiting Team Should Be Victorious—Two Game Tonight.

According to the dope sheet Milton college should win from the Y. M. C. A. basketball team this evening in the association gymnasium in this city. Last year, February 15, at Milton, the Janesville team won by a score of 29 to 20 and in the game between the same teams here, March 15, Milton was victorious by a score of 36 to 33. This year, January 18, the association five defeated the college aggregation at Milton, the final score standing 35 to 33, and to follow out the natural program Milton should be the victor tonight. The game this evening promises to be a closely fought contest and the Y. M. C. A. team will be for: forwards, F. Wilkerson and Mathews; center, R. Palmer; guards, H. Lee and E. Palmer. Another game will be played at the same place. The two contesting teams will be the second team and intermediate five of the Y. M. C. A. The line-up of these two teams is not yet definitely decided. Those who will comprise the second five are: W. Heise, Chase, R. Brown, R. Dobson and M. Tracy; those on the intermediate five: T. Cassidy, L. Baker, V. Koch, A. Ehrhinger, R. Benhson, and Jensen.

HOW OLD-TIMERS ENJOYED THE DAY

South Main Street the Scene of Many a Spirited Driving Contest.

The following clipping from an old-time Gazette was sent to a prominent horseman as a Valentine and brought into the office to show what Janesville drivers of fast horses did in the old days before the street railway laid their tracks down Main street:

The Main Street Drive. The recent repairs on South Main street and the employment of a sprinkler by the public-spirited residents of that thoroughfare render it one of the most delightful drives to be found in this vicinity. The street has always been noted for its beauty and it only needed those improvements to make it popular. Every evening it is crowded with vehicles and fleet horses, the level mile stretch, the bowers of shade which fringe its entire length and the absence of dust giving it an attractiveness which few pleasure-seekers can resist when they drive out after the heat of the day, for their evening recreation. The fast stock of Janesville may be seen there every pleasant night. Dr. Judd and Burbank like to stretch their Magna Carta coils over the level course; Dan Watt feels an exhilaration in the lively movements of his little bay; B. B. Eldredge enjoys the majestic beauty of his glossy black; Marshall don't care much what comes along, his family Dexter keeps his nose ahead unless McKimney happens to work up alongside and then there is a lively spurt. There are many others—we can't recall them just now, but the aggregate tonnage of good horseflesh on Main street these pleasant evenings, makes it an interesting locality.

Sparrow's Swift Flight. The ordinary sparrow can fly at the rate of seventy-two miles an hour.

DR. PRICE'S Cream Baking Powder

Each time the United States Government has officially tested the baking powders the report has shown Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder to be of superlative leavening strength, free from alum, absolutely pure and wholesome.

This is gratifying, for Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder is depended upon by millions of people to raise their daily bread.

NOTE—These Government inquiries also developed the fact that there are many mixtures upon the market made in imitation of baking powder, but containing alum or other caustic acid, whose use in food is dangerous.

THE COVERT COAT

For, between seasons, purposes there is nothing that fits in so well as the woollen covert coats. When fashioned after the severe tailor-made styles they remain in good standing from one season to another. In the later ones there is evident a tendency to repeat the little nuances of fashion that obtain in other modes of dress, and the sleeves are usually the method of their introduction. The covert coat illustrated shows the length that is favored for spring wear, coming well down over the curve of the hip. Back and sides are carefully fitted, and the fronts have a single dart either side. All the seams are strapped, and an air of length and slenderness is attained by the addition of extra strappings on the front. The sleeve is fuller than the usual tailor model, and buttons over cuff style at the wrist.

Brilliant Surgeons Not Wanted. Genius is some sort of neurosis, an uncalculated nervous disease. The few men of genius I have met were exceedingly impossible persons. They are certainly entirely out of place in the medical profession, where even cleverness is not to be encouraged. Indeed, of all desperately dangerous persons the brilliant surgeon is the most lamentable.—Sir Frederick Treves in the Young Man.

Dog Watch. Dog watch is a corruption of dog-dodge, and is the name given to two short watches of two hours each on shipboard—one from 4 to 6 p. m. and the other from 6 to 8 p. m. The dog watches were introduced to prevent the same men always keeping watch at the same hours of the day; hence on these occasions the sailors are said to dodge the routine, or to be doing dog-dodge.

THE EXPOSED MOTORMAN

Thos. J. Walsh of 532 N. 36th St., Philadelphia, Tells How He Rids Himself of Coughs and Colds by Taking Father John's Medicine.

I take pleasure in recommending such a fine remedy as Father John's Medicine. It does all that is claimed for it and a great deal more. In my business as motorman on the cars I am exposed to all kinds of weather and have contracted cold upon cold, which had me in pretty bad health, with pains and aches all over my body. One of our men was giving Father John's Medicine to one of his children for a cold and it was doing his child so much good that he advised me to give it a trial, which I did. The result was that one of the large bottles entirely cured my cold, and the second bottle took all the pains and aches out of my limbs. I am feeling better now than I ever did, and have gained much in weight. I always keep it in the house, and if I catch cold or feel tired or weary a few doses always fixes me up all right. A number of our men are now using it with good results. Too much cannot be said in favor of such a wonderful remedy as Father John's Medicine. (Signed) Thos. J. Walsh, 532 N. 36th St., Philadelphia, Pa., motorman Philadelphia Rapid Transit Co.

Basket Ball.

The Broadhead high school basketball team arrived in Orfordville last Saturday evening and engaged the local team in play for honors at the Star Opera house. The crowd was not large but very enthusiastic for the size. The game was called at eight o'clock with Dr. Sutherland of Broadhead acting as referee and Rev. J. F. Porterfield of Broadhead as umpire. In the opening of the game things were about evenly matched until Orfordville's team made two unsuccessful attempts to put the ball in the basket. After this the boys commenced to play harder and the team worked together, every man knowing just what each other man would do and at the close of the first half the score stood 6 to 8 in favor of Orfordville. Broadhead tried to regain their lost ground in the second half but only succeeded in gaining one point. At the end of forty minutes' play the score stood 14 to 15 in favor of Orfordville. If the basket-throwing of the players becomes as accurate as the team work is efficient the prospects of success will be the brightest.

Orfordville vs. Broadhead.

Orfordville basketball team engaged the Broadhead first team in Broughton's hall last Wednesday evening and a very exciting game was played. The Orfordville boys were defeated by a score of 17 to 11. Orfordville entered the field crippled at center, B. E. Miller being out of town. He was ably seconded by Off Gilbertson who played an excellent game at that position. The Orfordville right guard strained his foot in the game on Saturday evening and did not expect to play but the failure of B. E. Miller to put in an appearance made it necessary for him to come into the game. At the end of the first half the score stood 13 to 6 in favor of Broadhead. In the last half the local team held them down to four and succeeded in making five. The final score was 11 to 17 in favor of Broadhead. This was the cleanest game that has been played this season.

NORTH LIMA.

North Lima, February 17.—Mr. MaWhinney, of South Dakota, is here visiting at the home of M. J. McCord, Jr., and with other relatives and friends. Mr. MaWhinney and Mr. McCord called at W. J. Alexander's Thursday afternoon.

Miss Roxana Colbert expects to be an over Sunday guest at the home of Miss Lizabelle Vance, this week.

THE MINORITY

By FREDERICK A. STOKES & CO.
Author of "The Case and Exceptions," Etc.

(Copyright, 1905, by Frederick A. Stokes & Co.)

"If you are not the most—," began Mr. Trundell. "Upon my word I never know what you're going to think. If it wasn't that you hit more often than you miss, I'd say you talked just to be contrary. However, we want to be under the tree when anything's shaken out. So you'd better go to the board yourself this morning, you croaker!"

But Cornelius Croymen was right once more. The Confederated stock opened with a ten-point drop, but it rallied immediately, and went no lower all that day.

Even when the strike occurred, the result was disappointing. Not a force was lighted and not a wheel turned after the reduction of wages was announced, and yet at the end of three weeks, with nothing but discouraging news, the stock not only continued steady, but gave indications of rising every time there was the slightest attempt at purchasing.

"Somebody's supporting the stuff," remarked Croymen, as he ran the tape through his fingers one morning.

"That's plain, I should think," snapped Trundell. "Wonder if it's that crank Kennard? He's just fool enough."

"I thought of him when Holcomb bought on the first drop," answered Croymen. "I was waiting for the thing to go down ten points more when—bang went Holcomb into the crowd and bought everything in sight. Now we stand and watch each other like hawks, but there's no money in it. Do you suppose Kennard is working for control?"

"I DON'T BELIEVE IT'S A SAG MUCH ON ACCOUNT OF THAT STUFF."

"Great Scott, I hope so!" muttered Mr. Trundell. "If he only works long enough, we'll wring his silly neck for him before many moons."

Neil Croymen looked at his partner for a moment through half-closed eyes. "You're sure we've got control, Dick?"

"Of course. Do you think I'd play the hand this way if I wasn't? You've been dancing too much lately, I guess, or you wouldn't ask such fool questions. I thought you understood the game. This company's making a big pile of money and can make more. There's a lot of stock around somewhere, which can be shaken out and gathered in, sooner or later, in one way or another. If we corral enough of it, we can reorganize and make the heaviest take-off we've done since—"

"What's the use of going over that, Dick? Do you suppose I've been asleep all the time?"

"What makes you ask such silly questions, then?"

"About the control? I merely wondered if you were dead sure of it."

"You must think I'm losing my grip. You know what we have; Harkness knows what made him president and who'll keep him cocked up; I've got the customers' proxies, and Harlan can account for the rest."

"Then he must have bought it early in the year."

"He did."

"Where did he get the money?"

Reward will be paid to any person who can find one atom of opium, chloral, morphine, cocaine, ether or chloroform in any form in any of Dr. Miles' Remedies.

This reward is offered because certain unscrupulous persons make false statements about these remedies. It is understood that this reward applies only to goods purchased in the open market, which have not been tampered with in any way.

Dr. Miles' remedies cure by their soothing, nourishing, strengthening and invigorating effects upon the nervous system, and not by paralyzing and weakening the nerves as would be the case if these drugs were used.

For this reason Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills are universally considered the best pain remedy.

"I have suffered for 25 years with severe pains in my head, heart and back, and have tried everything I could get and could not find any relief until I got a box of Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills. I suffered as long as 12 hours at a time with such severe pains that I feared I would lose my mind. The Anti-Pain Pills gave me relief in from 10 to 20 minutes. I do not have to use Morphine any more. I wish you would publish this so that other sufferers may find relief."

"Damned, if I know!"

"You'd better make sure it's in his paw and paid for, Dick. There have been some funny rumors about that Milling Companies of his lately, and the stock is as weak as a cat."

"Um, I'll ask him about it to-day. Of course there's no use taking risks."

Mr. Trundell did ask about it, and the information was most satisfactory. Had he heard a conversation which occurred about the same time between Maddox and Kennard, he would have been more than satisfied, for in it Kennard announced his acquisition of stock on the first break in the market, and his firm determination to try for control.

"Then why on earth haven't you published the facts about the last meeting?" objected Maddox. "You certainly intended doing so at the time."

"Circumstances alter cases, Dave. Trundell printed his story first, which would have made mine an explanation rather than an indictment. Then, on second thoughts, I concluded any such statement would raise the price of stock and not lower it. I am quite willing to have them lower it for me, if they will," he added smilingly, "but almost every one who's interested knows of this fight now, and there's hardly any stock on the market. However, if there was, I've bought about all I can carry, and perhaps a little more than the absolute safe."

"You've made a big mistake, Jack. Tell you the complete exposure of this conspiracy will bring you the vote of every honest stockholder."

"Perhaps, but there are not enough of them. I'm inclined to think this game's been planned too far ahead for us, old man. To-day we're a good many shares short of control, and I don't believe there's an unpurged vote on the books."

"What! Do you mean to say you've given up the fight, Jack?"

"No, and I shall not, until it's over. But I'm not hopeful."

"You're overworked, that's what's the matter."

"I wish it were the only thing. But I've canvassed the field pretty thoroughly for the past month. At first I thought the outside interest was considerable. But Mr. Harlan has become a far larger owner than he was. A good many small holdings have been traced into his hands. I'm afraid the balance of power is secured. They've got a good thing and they're preparing to squeeze us out. People have been more than decent. For instance, Danville Parsons bought when I couldn't buy any more, and put his shares absolutely at my control. But the books close in ten days, and I'm afraid we'll find we've got the small end in the draw."

"Maddox gazed anxiously at the tired, careworn face."

"How much difference will it make to you, old man?"

"If they win and can make me sell, they clean the deck."

"What! You haven't gone as deep as that?"

Kennard nodded.

"I've 'borrowed out' as they say. And I've been under heavy expenses of late, you know," he added.

"I know you're a Quixotic crank!" he exclaimed Maddox, impatiently, as he glanced around the small hall bedroom, in which they were talking.

"How long have you been in this hole-in-the-wall, anyway?"

"Long enough to save some money, and every penny counts in this fight, Dave."

"I think you overdo it."

"Possibly, but it's good training in case we lose."

"You mean—"

"I mean I'm ruined, old man, if we fail at the election. I don't think the banks would carry me six months longer, even if the price of the stock kept up, which it won't. Trundell will flood the market with shares after the election and catch mine on the fall. But what's the use of being doleful? We've done all we can, and might as well sit down and wait."

Maddox shook his head.

"We haven't done all we can," he insisted, "until the story of that meeting has been told. You can't calculate the effect of public opinion. Told in the right way, that story would be more than likely to change some vote, and I believe the papers would raise such a row that more than one man would hesitate to support those fellows. I'm going to send for Bob Ferris, of the 'Record'."

"No, Dave, there's no use fighting your battles in the newspapers, or washing your dirty line in public."

"Not unless the public's interested. But I tell you they would be interested in this case. It must be tried, anyway."

"It's useless, Dave, and I—well, I don't like to fight that way. I'd have to accuse those people of being robbers and wreckers and—"

Maddox stared at the speaker in astonishment.

"Well, aren't they?" he gasped. "It strikes me you didn't mince words much when last you met."

"Yes, but—"

Kennard paused in evident confusion and Maddox laughed.

"Out with it, Jack, old man," he exclaimed; "you're the poorest liar I think I ever heard. Give us your real reason."

Kennard did not answer for a moment. Then he looked straight into Dave's eyes.

"I can't do it because—" then he stopped short and added quickly—"because I've been Mr. Harlan's guest and—and he's been mine. Don't you understand?"

Maddox thought he understood. The inquiry "Miss Harlan?" rose to his lips, but he checked it and merely shrugged his shoulders as he answered:

"All right, Jack. But if something should happen to leak out through some hole or another, I still have faith enough in human nature to believe—"

Kennard laid his hand on the speaker's shoulder and regarded him steadily.

"It mustn't leak out, Dave—it mustn't leak out at all."

Then Maddox felt sure he understood, and taking Kennard's hand in his, shook it firmly.

"All right, old man," he answered, earnestly, "I'll leak," as the boys say."

When Maddox called at the office of the Confederated Companies and asked permission to look over the list of stockholders, the fact was immediately reported to Mr. Trundell, who received the information with evident satisfaction.

"Counting noses, are they?" he laughed. "Much good may it do 'em! The names on the books won't mean anything to them. They'll never discover anything."

But Maddox did discover something. He noticed that a large block of stock had lately been transferred by Joshua Harlan to his daughter, Leslie.

It was not, however, until he had thought over this for a night, that he called upon Mrs. Danville Parsons and told her everything he knew, and some of the things he suspected about John Kennard, the Confederated Companies, and others.

Boston, Mass., Feb. 12.—The East Brookfield (Mass.) Congregational church, with a membership of 400, changed its faith by unanimous vote and united with the Episcopal diocese of western Massachusetts.

Musical Fish.

Lake Batticaloa, Ceylon, has the probably unique distinction of being the home of a musical fish. The sounds emitted by these are said to be as sweet and melodious as those which can be produced by a series of Aeolian harps. Crossing the lake in a boat one can plainly distinguish the pleasant sounds. If an oar is dipped in the water the melody becomes louder and more distinct.

Dog Saved Life of Mistress.

Hubbard Goodwin of Torrington, Conn., has a dog which money will not buy. He went to Mrs. Goodwin's bedroom and barked and finally jumped on the bed. Mrs. Goodwin followed him to the kitchen, where she found the front door of the stove wide open and the floor ablaze directly in front of it.

Preserves Corks.

A device to prevent the drying out of corks in liquor and wine bottles, which has the effect of making the contents of the bottle flat and stale, is to be seen at a St. Louis wholesaler's establishment. It consists of a cork which is supplied with a coil into which some moisture-saturated material is placed before the corking operation is performed, and it is said that this will keep the cork in the proper condition indefinitely.

Physicians Recommend Castoria

CASTORIA has met with pronounced favor on the part of physicians, pharmaceutical societies and medical authorities. It is used by physicians with results most gratifying. The extended use of Castoria is unquestionably the result of three facts: First—The indisputable evidence that it is harmless: Second—That it not only allays stomach pains and quiets the nerves, but assimilates the food: Third—It is an agreeable and perfect substitute for Castor Oil. It is absolutely safe. It does not contain any Opium, Morphine, or other narcotic and does not stupefy. It is unlike Soothing Syrups, Bateman's Drops, Godfrey's Cordial, etc. This is a good deal for a Medical Journal to say. Our duty, however, is to expose danger and record the means of advancing health. The day for poisoning innocent children through greed or ignorance ought to end. To our knowledge, Castoria is a remedy which produces composure and health, by regulating the system—not by stupefying it—and our readers are entitled to the information.—Hall's Journal of Health.

Letters from Prominent Physicians Addressed to Charles H. Fletcher.

Dr. B. Halstead Scott, of Chicago, Ill., says: "I have prescribed your Castoria often for infants during my practice, and find it very satisfactory."

Dr. William Belmont, of Cleveland, Ohio, says: "Your Castoria stands first in its class. In my thirty years of practice I can say I never have found anything that so filled the place."

Dr. J. E. Tarr, of Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "I have used your Castoria and found it an excellent remedy in my household and private practice for many years. The formula is excellent."

Dr. Wm. L. Rosserman, of Buffalo, N. Y., says: "I am pleased to speak a good word for your Castoria. I think so highly of it that I not only recommend it to others, but have used it in my own family."

Dr. R. J. Hamlen, of Detroit, Mich., says: "I prescribe your Castoria extensively, as I have never found anything to equal it for children's troubles. I am aware that there are imitations in the field, but I always see that my patients get Fletcher's."

Dr. Wm. I. McCann, of Omaha, Neb., says: "As the father of thirteen children I certainly know something about your great medicine, and aside from my own family experience I have in my years of practice found Castoria a popular and efficient remedy in almost every home."

Dr. J. R. Clausen, of Philadelphia, Pa., says: "The name that your Castoria has made for itself in the tens of thousands of homes blessed by the presence of children, scarcely needs to be supplemented by the endorsement of the medical profession, but I, for one, most heartily endorse it and believe it an excellent remedy."

Dr. Channing H. Cook, of St. Louis, Mo., says: "I have used your Castoria for several years past in my own family and have always found it thoroughly efficient and never objected to it by children, which is a great consideration in view of the fact that most medicines of this character are obnoxious and therefore difficult of administration. As a laxative, I consider it the peer of anything that I ever prescribed."

Dr. R. M. Ward, of Kansas City, Mo., says: "Physicians generally do not prescribe proprietary preparations, but in the case of Castoria my experience, like that of many other physicians, has taught me to make an exception. I prescribe your Castoria in my practice because I have found it to be a thoroughly reliable remedy for children's complaints. Any physician who has raised a family, as I have, will join me in heartiest recommendation of Castoria."

The Kind You Have Always Bought

In Use For Over 30 Years.

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, 77 MURRAY ST., NEW YORK CITY.

Cost of Golf.

It is calculated that in England, Ireland, Scotland and the United States $50,000,000 a year is spent in golf. There are 879 golf clubs in England, 769 in America, 632 in Scotland, and 134 in Ireland, numbering altogether 600,000 players.

Unprintable.

What do you suppose a father thinks when his son picks up a mandolin, a baseball bat, a tennis racket and a bag of golf sticks, and starts off to college?—Atchison Globe.

London Fog.

It is calculated that when an ordinary dense fog hangs over London it contains the smoke of many thousands of tons of coal. Hence the "fog headache," which is one of the delights of winter residence in the British metropolis. Strong tea or coffee is a palliative.

Yucatan Cotton.

Agriculturists of Catnuc, Yucatan, are cultivating cotton with good success. This year the cotton plantations will be enlarged.

Little Destitution in Japan.

There is said to be no real destitution in Japan. Though some are very poor, yet all seem to be well fed, clothed and housed and are invariably cheerful and, what is more surprising, invariably clean.

Sterilized Water for Navy.

Dr. Le Mehaute suggests that on French war vessels water that has been sterilized by heat should be substituted for the distilled water at present used, which, in his opinion, is open to many grave objections, including excessive costliness.

INTERESTING BIT OF REAL LIFE

Miss Mildred Holland Once Met The Czar of The Russias in Russia.

Just at this time when so much is being said and written regarding Russia and the royal family it is interesting to read a bit of history as told by an American girl, Miss Mildred Holland, who is soon to appear at the Myers Grand in her new Russian play, once met the Czar Nicholas, and J. W. Fellows, her advance agent, who was in the city this morning, tells of her experience:

"While driving through the private parks of the czar, in Peterhof, a suburb fifteen miles from St. Petersburg, where is the principal summer palace of his majesty, Miss Holland was informed by her guide, who was the tutor to his majesty's children, that they were approaching the royal carriage. Having her camera with her, she thought it would be a novelty if she could secure a picture of the 'tsar' as they call it in Russia. She was fortunate in getting a very fine negative. When she arose in her carriage to snap the picture, noting what she was about to do, the driver lightly drew the reins on the three black Orlov horses which pricked up their ears and assumed the position of starting. The central one with his head held erect and dignified, and the two on the outside held their heads low to the side. With the driver and 'tsar' they made a most pleasing picture. She had it developed in St. Petersburg, and later, when she had the pleasure of meeting his majesty, she showed it to him and he seemed very pleased with it. Miss Holland says of the interview:

"I had a long conversation with him upon various topics of interest to us both, that is, he questioned me as to my opinion of Russia; its ways, people and various other things. Knowing as he did that my visit to Russia was for the sole purpose of studying the life of 'Catherine the Great' and the court of illustrious personages with whom she was surrounded, he was kind enough to issue to me a permit to visit all private places not open to the public. He impressed me very favorably, for he is very kind and obliging, even to permitting me to visit his own private library to search for a question relating to Catherine of which I was not sure.

"It may be that the majority of the American reading public do not like the Russians, but speaking of them as I found them, I must say that they were very hospitable and obliging during my entire stay. When times they would go out of their way to assist me, so that I can only speak of them in the most glowing terms, for a person must always express oneself about others by the way in which they were treated."

WILL HASTEN THE REFORMS

A sigh of relief went through Moscow when it was known that the grand duchess was not with her husband at the time of the explosion.

Revenge of Students.
Although the murderer refused to give any account of himself, the general public believes he is a student, chiefly because it is known that the students had sworn to assassinate the grand duke in revenge for the massacre of Moscow on Dec. 19.

The body was immediately placed in a coffin. It will remain in the monastery until it is removed for burial to St. Petersburg, where, according to precedent, it must be interred in the Petropavlovsk fortress in the presence of the czar and all the grand dukes.

Czar Breaks Down.
The czar, who was fond of Sergius, is reported to have broken down upon hearing the news. He exclaimed, wildly:

"When will all this end?"

A liberal said:
"The reactionary party now is a headless trunk. Our party, consequently, is strengthened immensely. The minister of the interior now has no force behind him, and Gov. Gen. Trepoff also is without support. Another letter has been struck from Russia, yet the violence of Sergius' death may retard the reform."

Advanced revolutionists gloated over the assassination, saying:

"Wait. There will be more, more work. Slowly but surely, one by one, we will rid our country of its oppressors. This is our resolution. I rejoice that Sergius is done for."

Big result for the money: a want ad.

PIONEER MINER DEAD ON DUMP

Colonel P. W. Keyes of Reno, Nev., Falls Over Precipice to Death.

Reno, Nev., Feb. 18.—Col. P. W. Keyes, the pioneer mining man of Comstock, has been found dead at the bottom of the dump of the Mammoth mine at Six Mile canyon, near Virginia City. Keyes had been at work in the mine and was riding an ore car to the dump when he lost control of it and rolled over the precipice to his death. Keyes died a comparatively poor man, though at one time the late John W. Mackay offered him $75,000 for his interests in one mine near Virginia City.

Kentucky Murderer Is Hanged.
Owensboro, Ky., Feb. 18.—Roy Green, a negro, was hanged Friday for the murder of James Coomes, a white man, last July. Green drove a stake through his victim's neck.

Many Are Rescued.
Cleveland, Ohio, Feb. 18.—A score of lives were saved by prompt work of firemen at a fire in the Reginald apartment house, and the building was gutted.

EDWIN STONE IS DEAD IN OREGON

Former Janesville Man Assaulted and Killed—Was Prominent in the West.

Edwin Stone, a native of Janesville and late manager of the Cornvallis & Eastern railway of Oregon, died as the result of an assault by an unknown man in Newport, Oregon, January 30. Mr. Stone has been in the employ of some western road for many years and held the position of manager of the Cornvallis & Eastern for the past eleven years. Saturday, January 28, Mr. Stone took a room in the annex of a hotel in Newport and shortly after midnight was assaulted. He never regained consciousness completely and who his assailant was, what the reason of the assault was, or how he was fatally injured will probably never be known. It is supposed that his room was entered by a robber and that in a scuffle he was bested, a mark on his face showing where he was struck and rendered unconscious. It is further thought that upon entering the room the robber dropped a lighted match, the blaze of which communicated to the furnishings and carpet and floor of the room. Mr. Stone lying in an unconscious state on the floor, was fatally burned and his death was the direct result of these burns. Mr. Stone died the Monday morning after the assault, leaving no clue as to the identity of the assailant. Funeral services over the remains were held in Albany, Oregon, February 5, and hundreds from out of the city were in attendance. Railroad men from all over Oregon came by special trains to attend the funeral. Among others present were members of the different lodges in Oregon of the Masonic order and the B. P. O. Elks, to which organizations the deceased belonged. He was exalted ruler of the Albany lodge of Elks at the time of his demise.

Edwin Stone was born in Janesville fifty-five years ago and his father was the operator of the mill where now stands the building formerly occupied by the postoffice. In 1864 he left here with an uncle for Canyon City, Oregon. From that place he went to Montana and worked his way up rapidly, finally engaging in the mercantile business. He commenced railroad work in the employ of the Oregon & California, now the Southern Pacific, in Portland and was later purchasing agent of the Northern Pacific when that line was building through Montana. When the Cornvallis & Eastern was purchased eleven years ago by A. B. Hammond, Mr. Stone was made manager and held that position until his death. He was one of the foremost men of Albany, and a practical railroad man known throughout Oregon. He was a heavy property owner in the section of Oregon near Albany.

LAD IMBIBES A QUART OF LIQUOR, THEN DIES

Cincinnati Tailor Is Charged With Manslaughter for Inducing Newsboy to Partake of Whisky.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Feb. 18.—A warrant has been issued for the arrest of Samuel Becker, tailor, at Seventh and Vine streets, on a charge of manslaughter, as a result of the death at the city hospital of John Nickels, a colored newsboy of Avery alley. The warrant was sworn out by the boy's stepfather, William Johnson.

The detectives learned they say, that Nickels was at William Mann's news stand and that an argument came up about drinking. Becker, they say, bet Nickels that he couldn't drink a quart of whisky. Nickels took the dare, and went to a saloon on Vine street, where he bought a quart of whisky. Returning to the news stand he drank the liquor. Becker, the detectives declared, told him he could not drink another quart, and the boy said he would, but fell unconscious before he started it.

He was taken to the city hospital, and died there. To trap the saloonist, the detectives sent a boy to the saloon and though he was a minor he had no trouble in getting the whisky. Other arrests are to be made.

An Animal Story For Little Folks

CAN'T HAVE YOUR CAKE AND EAT IT TOO

Have you heard about Little Bruin and how he saved the honey? No? Well, I guess that is because it only happened the other day.

His grandfather promised him that if he were a good bear and kept his paws clean for a week he should go with him to gather honey, and that if he helped well he should have a jar.

Bruin was, of course, a model bear, and at the end of the week went out into the woods with grandpa bear to get the honey which the bees had put away in the hollow trees. Little Bruin worked well, and he and grandpa filled up several jars with the sweet stuff, and one of these was given to our little bear.

He was delighted. Trudging along toward Bearville he hugged the precious jar to his little stomach and thought what he would do with all that honey.

"I'll give some of it to Tiny and to Jim, and some to Southpaw and some

"BETTER LET ME CARRY THAT JAR."

to mother," he said, looking into the jar. It looked so good that he took a lick with his tongue.

"My, that's good! I guess I'll sell half of it and buy myself toys." Then he took another lick.

"My, it's nearly half gone," he thought. "I guess I'll save the rest for the fair for the Bears' Orphan home" next week. But his little tongue found its way to the jar again.

When they reached the millpond, near home, his grandfather said: "Bruin, you better let me carry that jar; you seem to be losing the honey out of it."

"Oh, no, grandpa," said he, "only one little more and then I'll give some to that lame bear next door." But that tongue could not keep from that honey. When they reached home it was all gone.

"I wish I had that honey," said he. "You have it," said his grandpa, "but it's in the wrong place, that's all."

"Yes," said Mother Bear, "can't have your cake and eat it too."

Wonder what she meant. Do you know?—Pittsburg Dispatch.
